Gucci ramraid: teens bagged

May 3, 2007 - 3:33PM

Two teenagers were arrested after police raids in Sydney netted stolen Louis Vuitton, Gucci and other designer label items, police say.

Police executed search warrants early yesterday morning at three homes in Five Dock, Burwood and Croydon Park, in the city's inner-west.

They seized clothing, accessories and sunglasses alleged to have come from a series of robberies at jewellery, designer and electronics stores in central Sydney and the inner-west over the past few months.

Two men, both 19, were arrested during the raids and charged with multiple offences.

A Five Dock man was charged with four counts of possessing stolen goods, a charge of break and enter and one of transporting a firearm in a stolen vehicle.

A Burwood Heights man also was charged with multiple offences for possessing stolen goods and break and enter.

He will also face court over charges of possessing and cultivating a prohibited drug.

Both men were refused bail and are due to appear in Central Local Court on May 8.
