Accused carjackers front court

May 25, 2007 - 2:24PM

Two men have appeared in court over a carjacking in Melbourne's outer-east.

A family of three was allegedly forced from a car at gunpoint outside a McDonald's restaurant on the Princes Highway at Eumemmering, in Melbourne's south-east, about 12.20am (AEST) on Thursday.

Matthew Johnson, 33, of Hampton Park and Mark Morgan, 33, of Dandenong North, appeared briefly in Melbourne Magistrates Court on Friday for a filing hearing and made no application for bail.

Both face a raft of charges including armed robbery, recklessly causing injury and unlawful imprisonment.

Magistrate Maurice Gurvich remanded the men to reappear at the same court on August 10.
